EXPERTS IN VOIP & CONVERGED COMMUNICATIONS

managed services

Outsourcing the operational and management of non-core activities to a professional partner can deliver excellent financial and operating benefits. EVAD's Managed Services gives your business the opportunity to focus its resources and efforts on strategic priorities rather than non core business activities. Our solutions can be tailored to both the current and future needs of your business.

With EVAD you decide which level of service you require to suit your business requirements, whether we manage your telecommunications services or enhance and expand them, you make the choice. We cover VoIP and converged communications, network design & management and training.
