EXPERTS IN VOIP & CONVERGED COMMUNICATIONS

mobile solutions

The choice of mobile technology today can be more than a little daunting. Business requirements are more focused on integrated solutions, combining both voice and data, in the mobile and fixed environment. EVAD's range of products and services will provide you with exactly what you need, in the most cost effective way possible.

Mobiles are no longer just about phones and making voice calls. Mobile data offers businesses the opportunity to access information whilst on the move, often giving you a competitive advantage over your competition. Today mobile data is a secure way of maximising business efficiency. We aren't prescriptive in our offer. Instead we work with you to get the best solution, whether it is single or multiple user groups, voice and data or 3G. We will also look at the administrative aspects to ensure your back office gets the information they require too.

We are independent and supply all the major mobile networks bespoke to the customer requirement. We will do an analysis to see what is the best alternative for you.
